The ˆA ˆ developer is always open to requests and suggestions and actually responds to emails in a timely manner. I really appreciate the automatic color coding of movies in the Guide and the possibility to click on the movie to learn a little about it, in the same way you can click on any show in the Guide for a synopsis and advice on whether it is a repeat or a new episode. I literally tried every free aerial TV guide available and found this app to be the best by far. Learn ... Major Developer Website App Support privacy policy The developer, Sladjan Ilic, indicated that the app privacy policies may include data management as described below. The Australian TV Guide number one on the App Store. Easy to use, operate. List channels in any order to fit, show channel numbers not only logos like some apps, allow you to mark your favorite genres in different colors, highlight your regular programs as favorites that also show upcoming episodes, accurate program times, all programs Have links to Google, Wiki, etc., Always accurate information, allows you to set in-app reminders and calendar reminders, even long-haul programmingˆ the point. For the price of two television weeks, which is much less accurate, you get real value for your dollars. I have and will continueˆ to recommend this app to all and various. My only problem ˆA ˆ when you click to view the description of a TV show, some programs only have a general description without episode details when I know these are available because they control over another app and provide episode-specific details. episode.
